Strengthen your connection to Australia's resource recovery, recycling, and remanufacturing industry

ABOUT ACOR

The Australian Council of Recycling (ACOR) is the peak body for resource recovery, recycling and remanufacturing in Australia, a sector that generates almost $19 billion in value and provides nearly 95,000 jobs nationally, while delivering significant environmental benefits.

ACOR represents a broad range of operations, including kerbside recycling, container deposit schemes, metal, glass, plastic, paper, organics, textiles, oil, tyre, battery and electronics recycling, construction and demolition recovery, and more.

Our purpose

Policy and engagement that drives the agenda for resource recovery, recycling and remanufacturing.

A network that inspires dialogue, information exchange, relationship building and thought leadership.

Championing the progress and achievements of Australia's resource recovery, recycling and remanufacturing sector.

ACOR's mission is to lead the transition to a circular economy through the recycling supply chain.

Policy priorities

Robust and viable markets for Australian recycled content.

An aligned, supportive and nationally harmonised regulatory environment.

Product stewardship that supports genuine recycling outcomes.

A community that knows how to 'recycle right', with confidence in recycling outcomes.
